ADDRESS

TO THE

Nervous and Debilitated,

Whose sufferings have been protracted from hidden causes, and whose case require prompt treatment to render existence desirable; If you are suffering, or have suffered, from involuntary discharges, what effect does it produce upon your general health? Do you feel weak, debilitated, easily tired? Does a little extra exertion produce palpitation of the heart? Does your liver, or urinary organs, or your kidneys, frequently get out of order? Is your urine sometimes thick, milky or flocky, or is it ropy on settling? Or does a thick scum rise to the top? Or is a sediment at the bottom after it has stood awhile? Do you have spells of short breathing or dyspepsia? Are your bowels constipated? Do you have spells of fainting, or rushes of blood to the head? Is your memory impaired? Is your mind constantly dwelling on this subject? Do you feel dull, listless, moping, tired of company, of life? Do you wish to be left alone, to get away from everybody? Does any little thing make you start or jump? Is your sleep broken or restless? Is the lustre of your eye as brilliant? the bloom on your cheek as bright? Do you enjoy yourself in society as well? Do you pursue your business with the same energy? Do you feel as much confidence in yourself? Are your spirits dull and flagging, given to fits of melancholy? If so, do not lay it to your liver or dyspepsia. Have you restless nights? Your back weak, your knees weak, and have but little appetite, and you attribute this to dyspepsia or liver complaint?

Now, reader, self-abuse, venereal diseases badly cured, and sexual excesses, are all capable of producing a weakness of the generative organs. The organs of generation, when in perfect health, make the man. Did you ever think that those bold, defiant, energetic, persevering, successful business-men are always those whose generative organs are in perfect health? You never hear such men complain of being melancholy, of nervousness, of palpitation of the heart.

How many men, from the effects of excesses, have brought about the state of weakness in Sexual Organs that has reduced the general system so much as to induce almost every other disease—idiocy, insanity, paralysis, spinal affections, a acidic and almost every other form of disease which humanity is heir to, and the real cause of the trouble scarcely ever suspected, and have used remedies for all but the right one.

Diseases of these organs require the use of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic, and is a certain cure for diseases of the Bladder, Kidneys, Gravel, Dropsy, Organic Weakness, Female Complaints, General Debility and all diseases of the Sexual Organs, whether existing in Male or Female, from whatever cause originating, and no matter of how long standing.

If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or insanity may ensue. Our flesh and blood are supported from these sources, and the health and happiness and that of posterity, depends upon prompt use of a reliable remedy.

HELMBOLD'S

Fluid Extract Sarsaparilla,

The Great Blood Purifier and Beautifier of the Complexion.

HELMBOLD'S

Being prepared expressly for the above complaints, its Blood-Purifying properties are greater than any other preparation of Sarsaparilla. It gives the complexion a clear and healthy color, and restores the patient to a state of health and purity. FRENCH
FIRE-PROOF
LAMP CHIMNEYS,
these chimneys, which are now for the first time offered to the public, possess all the essentials of a heat-resisting Chimney. They are well made, of a superior quality of glass, each one finished smoothly at the bottom, and being carefully annealed or tempered, will not break from the most intense heat of a lamp flame.
A trial of their merits will convince the consumer that, although costing a trifle more than the ordinary class of Chimneys in use, they will prove a source of much economy in the use of Kerosene, a saving of untold trouble and annoyance, and a preventative of many accidents hitherto resulting from the breakage of Chimneys upon burning Lamps.

SATURDAY OCTOBER 7, 1871.

GENTEEL DISHONESTY

The [illegible] great deal of moralizing just now upon the numerous cases of those breaches of trust which [illegible] the property of others for his own use but which owing to the position of the offenders or the magnitude of the [illegible] are classed under that synonym [illegible] robbery, defalcation The robbery of public funds as in the case of the Chamberlain Lee, affords a pretext for the [illegible] press to ascribe the laxity of morals to the influence of the political party which is the business to denounce, and we are treated to extensive Democratic homilies upon the necessity of purifying public morals by restoring this party to power Without citing the [illegible] argument so ridiculous which is developed in the Democratic atmosphere of New York City, the current history of crime is ample evidence that individual dishonesty is not to be accounted for upon any general principle other than the depravity of human nature. Circumstances may favor or check the development of rascality, but the conflict between right and wrong must be fought out in the conscience of the individual, whether it be over the theft of a loaf of bread or the temptation of [illegible] upon ill gotten wealth

In the case of Hall, he exercised attributes of the times as the speculative man of great [illegible] by the war, and subtly turned the scale of a weak integrity and his crime, which was simply stealing although on an arresting scale was [illegible] at the form of circumstances, while the starving tramp who breaks the Commandment under the spur of a [illegible] impulse is not [illegible] but lingering to the same family of offenders The most important case of defalcation which has recently occurred in this state, happens to be one which the opposition journals do not even attempt to parade upon, being a case where one Democratic Cashier of a Democratic corporation gradually absorbed for his own use nearly the whole capital of the institution We cite the case of the Penobscot Bank, not as an indictment against the party, but as a reminder in view of the [illegible] clamor over the Peck defalcation, that there is nothing in the peculiar influences of Democratic associations which afford a security against the [illegible] wealth or the capacity of men, and as evidence that [illegible] about the immaculate purity which would follow a transfer of political power is simple nonsense The Penobscot Bank [illegible] Democratic institution of the most unimpeached kind, and the political zeal of the unfortunate Cashier was such that he was [illegible] the church where he was a shining member when the pastor during [illegible] in fervid exhortation These facts probably explain the retention of [illegible] which are prompt in denouncing Republicans but we do not propose to [illegible] this prejudice by charging the Bank defalcation upon politics

The fall of a man whose integrity has been unquestioned for years and whose confidence of private confidence to an unusual extent marked him as one whom dishonesty would be impossible, is a [illegible] circumstance, and when it is found that such a man has for years concealed his [illegible] operations beneath the garb of an honest party, the exposure is a shock to human confidence and a stab at the religion which he has betrayed Other is something terrible in the contemplation of such a fall, but the thought of the burden of hypocrisy borne through years of persistent crime is more fearful still Such a course of guilt must have brought upon the offender an unceasing punishment to which the penalty of the law can add little bitterness, it indeed the inevitable exposure has not brought a comparative relief The hand of Justice in this case may be more potent as raised in warning to others than in its punishment of one whose crime has worked its severest retribution And in this view it seems to us that the lesson is likely to lose much of its force by the injudicious comments of a portion of the press upon the bearings of this case

Much of the editorial [illegible] upon this case which has fallen under our notice, tends to illustrate the dishonesty of the employe on the ground of illiberality on the part of the employers, and while it is very justly urged that adequate compensation is the best safeguard against the peculation of agents, it is very undesirable that such a doctrine of repudiation should receive public countenance The employer should consult his own interest while he removes temptation by granting equitable compensation to those laboring in his service, but his failure to do so is no excuse for the crime to which it may have indirectly led Honest for honesty's sake a responsibility to a sense of right above all the bargains and injustice of men is the only true rule of conduct, and he who gives way to the whisperings of improbity enters upon a path which grows broad and the descends lower at every step

The generous compensation awarded for years by a monied corporation to the man who was entrusted with the handling of its funds, with all allowance for the difference in values at that time, has deprived its members of the public sympathy which would otherwise have been elicited by their misfortune but we cannot see that the plea in his contession makes good his application of this meagre allowance for his services In the first place a man who is unable to obtain a living salary in a position on which he holds should seek other employment rather than make up the deficiency by stealing As for the case of hogers, while he shows the gradual and apparently innocent by intended process by which he devoted the money of others to his own use, it does not appear that this peculation was imposed by the necessities of his case A gradual hoarding of funds in his keeping to meet the actual wants of his family would be more easily explained than the accompaniment of such a plea with the statement that while forced by destitution to criminal theft of other people's money he had accumulated property to the amount of eighteen thousand dollars. This sum would be regarded as a comfortable portion for very many families and its acquisition cannot be reconciled with that grinding poverty which would drive a man to the robbery which is essentially the same whether committed in the bank vault or on the highway

There is no greater mistake in solicitude for a family than that which hazards the soul in a terrible disgrace rather than forego things which seem necessary to meet the demands of a particular plane of society Habit is strong and conventionalism stubborn but character should be held aloft as the highest distinction, and the press can render a most important service in exposing the sophistry which exalts fortune above the methods of its acquirement The family of the unfortunate man are the greatest sufferers for his crime, and the truest sympathy which can be manifested for their affliction is in brushing off the glare of calamity which [illegible] the [illegible] of such offenses from those who may be tempted through indulgence, to bring ruin upon homes where honor and happiness might have dwelt together

What the Democratic party did for New York city: In 20 months it increased the funded debt from forty-four millions to eighty-two millions.

When Mayor Hall boasts that he is not afraid of investigation, it is well understood that he relies upon the Tammany devices of packed juries and whitewashing committees to clear him, and we are informed now that the foreman of the panel jury to examine his case is Geo. Wm Hall, an uncle of the Mayor, while of the others, Robert Ball is a cousin, Charles Guidet is a Tammany contractor, and Chris O'Connor a sporting man in the gay of the 'Ring' With one or two exceptions they are all Tammany adherents

Mayor Hall's explanation of the relationship existing between the foreman of the jury and himself is 'that the panels graded jury duty, and the jury is necessarily composed of Democrats' He says they will 'shield him from persecution,' and promises if he takes the stand to establish his innocence and make such revelations in relation to the Tammany trouble as will astonish the country" It is probable, however, that his case will not be submitted to this jury Ex Judge Barrett has written the District Attorney demanding prompt action against Hall and he says the evidence is so strong, convincing and irrefragable, that no man can resist it, but that if whitewashing is attempted the case shall be appealed, even to the Governor

Our readers have noticed that the anti-Tammany delegates at Rochester were only permitted to state their case, but were rigidly excluded from the action of the Convention The argument used by Tweed to obtain this victory was a convincing one to Democrats. He offered to withdraw his delegates to save appearances, but threatened the country members that the city politicians would contribute nothing toward the election expenses if the anti-Tammanyites were recognized. As Tammany has furnished the bulk of the political funds used in the State, the country delegates were alarmed at the prospect of having the supplies cut off and were glad to strike a bargain with Tammany The result shows the Reformers indignant, and Tammany exulting, while the roughs threaten that the election shall be carried for Democracy if they have to kill every Republican inspector. Tammany still dictates to the New York Democracy

The Ellsworth American copies our recent article upon the Eastern Maine Railroad, with the following comments. Our Ellsworth friends may feel assured that Bangor "means business" and we hope to see an active movement inaugurated in the former city in furtherance of the same object

The Whig has a leader on the Eastern Railroad, which if it speaks the sentiment of Bangor, means business The impression has gone abroad that Bangor does not want a railroad East at present, either because she does not want to invest in a line in this direction at present, with so much of that land of business now on her hands in another direction, or else because she does not care to see a road through these two counties, being content to have the old order of things remain Another class are inclined to think that she is really in earnest. The true way to judge of this, is by the old and safe rule, "what is her interest?" If Bangor had not before her a magnificent future, if she were not already reaching out her arms in every direction, seeking and bringing business to herself, if she were not enterprising, pushing, aggressive, hopeful and plucky, if from her situation she were not destined to be the largest city in the State, then we might well suppose that she did not want any closer connection with Eastern Maine But seeing her efforts in every other direction, and understanding that her citizens are thus wide awake, we can safely rely on it that she is in earnest in the desire to have a railroad East.

THE PENOBSCOT BANK The Brunswick Telegraph states that a further discovery of the loss of bonds in the Penobscot National Bank, was made on Monday last About three years ago, Capt. R L Merryman, of Brunswick, master of the ship Ben Shepley, placed three $1000 government bonds, on the post with Mr Rogers for safe keeping Subsequently Mrs Merryman took out one having two on deposit. On Monday morning, Capt. Alfred Merryman received a letter from Capt. R. L Merryman, still at sea notifying him of the facts in the case. He at once went to the bank, an envelope was found inscribed with the name R. L Merryman, but the bonds were gone Capt. Alfred visited Mr Rogers in jail, on that day, but no information from him as to the disposition of the bonds, Mr Rogers remarking that after he got to Thomaston he would write about the matter

A letter states that for years past Queen Victoria has believed that the soul of Prince Albert is invariably present with her, and that she can hold communion with him So impressed is she with this pathetic belief that she will frequently order a knife and fork to be laid for him at her table, and cause the attendant footmen to place every course before the empty chair as if their master still occupied it. Every morning a pair of boots are cleaned and set down at the door of the room formerly tenanted by Prince Albert, and by innumerable other signs the widowed Queen testifies to her faith in her dead husband's actual presence on earth Prince Albert, it is well known, was a free-thinker, and there is little doubt that the Queen was, during his life-time, made well acquainted with many of the bold and ingenious, but somewhat mystical theories of certain German philosophers in relation to the future state of the soul.

The practical victory of Tweed at Rochester in securing the exclusion of the reform delegation, is likely to have a good effect upon the Republican canvass by uniting to harmony and exertion The Tribune says:

In view of yesterday's developments, we entreat the Republicans of our city to forget their differences and rally as one man to the rescue of our State from the clutches of the harpies, who would gladly bury her as deeply in debt as they have already buried the city in corrupt and swindlec. empourium. He who isn't willing to forgive and forget in view of the restoration to Tweed of his forfeited power is no Republican at heart"

The great prairie fire in Minnesota is still raging with unabated fury, although the slight rain of Thursday arrested its progress for a little time. Its course is Southeast, and at the last account it had reached nearly as far South as Minnesota River, which it is hoped will stay its further progress There is no means of ascertaining the amount of damage done, owing to the large tract of country over which the fire swept and its inaccessible nature, but it must be very heavy. Many small towns are completely destroyed and the solitary farm houses in the track of the fire have been almost invariably burned. The suffering must necessarily be great, as many farmers lost everything, homestead, live stock and crops, with a long winter close upon them

GODBE ON THE MORMONS —Godbe, the leading opponent of Brigham Young, is in New York, and was interviewed on Thursday He said that Methodism had nothing to do with the course of the courts in Utah, and that the assertion that the trouble now there is "the crusade of President Grant," is very stupid, and one a fanatic was alone capable of making He expressed the opinion that polygamy would probably die out with the present race of elderly Mormons, and that Brigham is losing prestige. There is no danger of his assassination, but when he dies, Mormonism will fall to pieces. The true course to pursue toward him and his people is to be kind but firm When Congress resolves to act, they should advance steadily and determinedly and leave no room for misapprehension, exhibiting to the people that there is no vengeance nor persecution in the movement, but only a resolve to maintain the supremacy of the law. Godbe seemed greatly impressed with the wants of the sinners in Utah, and believed after the present trouble had were settled, Utah would ask admission into the Union as a State He says the silver and gold will solve all the Utah difficulties.

Mr Boutwell believes in a continued but gradual reduction of taxation, that no interest may be affected by a sudden withdrawal of the duties. This the Democrats do not like, but if Mr B. had declared for a large and immediate reduction, then this same Democracy would have opposed it, and bewailed the fate of industries ruined by the rash withdrawal of the stimulus of high duties. It will be entirely impossible for the Secretary to satisfy a party which has no policy of its own, except that of a chronic and senseless opposition.

CUNDURANGO—A CASE OF ITS ALLEGED CURATIVE PROPERTIES. The Chicago Tribune has an editorial in which the following facts in regard to the virtues of the cundurango for the cure of cancer are given:

"A citizen of high standing, of Chicago, took his wife to Dr. Bliss, at Washington, to be treated for a cancer. The case was a most serious one. He tried the cundurango and awaited the results' In two weeks the cancer exhibited alarming signs, threatening death from bleeding. An operation with the knife was resolved upon, and this soon explained the condition the cancer had assumed. The immense growth had become entirely separated from the flesh, but had prevented the latter from healing. As soon as the cancer was removed the flesh beneath was found free from disease, and the lady rapidly recovered, and is now at her house in this city, free from every sign or symptom of cancer."

and has been thoroughly introduced in certain localities and is being introduced everywhere It possesses four great requisites for a perfect Thread, viz SMOOTHNESS ELASTICITY, UNIFORMITY OF TWIST, GREAT STRENGTH

These results are secured by a liberal use of SEA ISLAND COTTON, and the expensive process of Combing, whereby the short fibres of Cotton are removed, and by important improvements in machinery, some of which are patented and used exclusively by the Williston Mills, who were also the first to introduce cotton combers in this country. With this Thread the operator on the sewing machine can accomplish more and better work than with the ordinary article.

In many instances it is being substituted for Silk and Linen with entire satisfaction to the consumer. We have a little machine to test the strength of Thread, and all who will call can see that the Williston Thread has greater strength than any other in use

Andrews, principal copyist in the freight department, was surrounded by a sudden bursting of flames from kerosene and other inflammable freight, and burned to death. Her parents reside in Orange, N. Y. Others in the building narrowly escaped. The fire caught from engine sparks, and spread with fearful rapidity, the flames being fed by exploding oil casks and kerosene. There were three dwellings burned in all, occupied respectively by the Cheshire, Vermont & Massachusetts and Fitchburg R. R. Within an hour after the alarm the high walls of the main building fell, and the entire easterly half of the immense line of freight houses extending about 2000 feet, were burned to the ground. The buildings were old, probably not worth over $ 6,000, for which they were insured in the Boston offices. The total loss is believed will exceed $100,000, but it is impossible to give a correct estimate, as the contents of the cars in the building are unknown.

PISCATAQUIS CENTRAL FAIR. On Thursday the attendance at the Piscataquis Central Fair at Foxcroft was very large. The principal matter of interest for the day was the showing of horses on the track and trotting for the several premiums offered by the Society. There was some very good trotting in the afternoon, but no very fast time was made. The address was delivered by Hon. Samuel Wasson of Ellsworth. His subject was "Sheep Husbandry." He showed that the agricultural interests of the State have declined in proportion as the number of sheep raised in the State has diminished. The address was interesting and instructive and gave general satisfaction.

THE CELEBRATION. The immense crowd of people which will be in this city on the 18th cannot, of course, be all lodged and fed at the hotels, and that none may go hungry or without sleeping accommodations, a "Hospitality Committee" has been appointed by the Central Committee. This committee, consisting of Messrs. J. G. Clark, Frank Lawrence and Dr. S. B. Morison, wish to ascertain how many rooms can be furnished at private houses on Wednesday and Thursday nights, and also how many individuals can be furnished with dinners on Wednesday. All of our citizens who can furnish rooms or dinners are requested to inform the committee at once, and those who cannot find an opportunity to call, will be called on by the committee.

At the Episcopal Convention in Baltimore, on Thursday, a formal reception of the English clergymen took place at noon. On the resumption of business a message was received from the Bishops that the House of Delegates concurring with the Convention ratifies the formation of a diocese within the limits of the dioceses of Pennsylvania.

All the [illegible] published statements [illegible] New Orleans.
